Door Style: Woodbridge Inset
Birch/Graphite with Walnut/Brindle

A modern kitchen with a curved island, stainless steel appliances, and a large chandelier. The kitchen features a curved island with a light-colored countertop and a dark wood base. On the island, there is a vase of flowers, an open book, and some fruit. A dark wood chair with a light-colored seat is tucked under the island. The background shows a large window with a view of a desert landscape. The kitchen has white cabinetry, a stainless steel refrigerator, and a built-in oven. A large chandelier hangs from the ceiling. The floor is made of light-colored tiles with a dark blue border.

Alder is a fine-grained hardwood similar to Cherry, Birch and Maple. Characteristics include random sized tight knots and rays. Birch is a medium hardwood similar to Maple with a blotchy appearance due to the various densities in the wood. Cherry darkens with age at a very fast rate. Characteristics include pitch marks (worm holes) mineral streaks. Hickory is known for its light to dark contrast in color. Cabinet components may range from light, almost white to a deep, reddish-brown color. Maple is a fine, tight grain hardwood. Oak has an open grain that accepts stain well, will darken slightly with age, with grain pattern very evident when solid color is applied. Oak may vary in color from light to dark with

CHOICE

Maple but not as consistent in color as Maple, good base for solid colors, accepts stain unevenly mottles and s, medium hardwood and accepts stain well. Hickory is a strong solid heavy wood with open grain that is d that looks best with light, natural or solid color finishes. Oak and quartersawn oak possess a very stable possible shades of green. All solid woods have their own unique character.
